

42-DAY U. S. STEEL STRIKE ENDED

Lewis Voices Willingness To Talk Peace

Ching Says He Has No Present Plans To Arrange Parley

NEW YORK, Nov. 11 (AP)—John L. Lewis today expressed willingness to try again next week for a coal dispute settlement but he adopted no conciliatory tone toward government mediators.

The United Mine Workers president told newsmen he would meet next week with Cyrus S. Ching, director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, "or anybody else," in an effort to reach a settlement.

Ching said in Washington, after learning of Lewis' statement, that he has no present plans to arrange new coal peace meetings.

An operator spokesman, Joseph E. Moody, president of the Southern Coal Producers' Association, commented that "unless Lewis is more specific and shows some sign of modifying his previous position, there is no use in resuming negotiations."

The UMW head reiterated his explanation of his failure to show up for a Washington meeting called by Ching yesterday, explaining he was trying to get the miners back into the pits.

Lewis suddenly called off the 52-day coal strike Wednesday for a three-week period ending December 1.

Most of the coal diggers already have gone back to work. All are expected to do so by next Monday.

The UMW head referred to yesterday's scheduled meeting as "the Ching flaco in Washington."

At the last minute, he had sent a message to Ching saying he could not be present until Monday. The federal official held this to be unsatisfactory and indicated that mediation efforts would be dropped.

Lewis said here that Ching "arbitrarily fixed Thursday for a meeting without consultation as to the mine workers' convenience." Members of the UMW policy committee were busy yesterday trying to get the miners back to their jobs, he said.

In Washington, government officials were reported ready to sound out Lewis on the idea of appointment of a presidential fact-finding board similar to the one which helped resolve the steel dispute.

But the UMW president threw cold water on such a plan here.

"I doubt that any non-technical board, without knowledge of the facts and time to familiarize themselves with the problem, could throw any light on it at this time," he asserted.

U.S. Hits Back At Soviet Claim

LAKE SUCCESS, Nov. 11 (AP)—Assistant Secretary of State John D. Hickerson today told the United Nations—and the Soviet Union especially—that countries which can level mountains in peace time with atomic energy also can level cities in war.

He implied that this is one of the best arguments for international control of the atom for peaceful uses.

Hickerson made a short reply in the Special Political Committee of the United Nations Assembly to the 90-minute speech yesterday by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky. The Russian delegate said the Russians are using the atom for such peaceful jobs as moving mountains, irrigating deserts and clearing jungles and arctic wastes. Vishinsky was not on hand to hear the American reply.

Commenting directly on Vishinsky's claim that Russia uses atomic energy only in a vast land reclamation program, Hickerson said:

Red Propaganda Offensive Tied To Atom Energy

But Venture Doesn't Stand Up Too Well

NEW YORK, Nov. 11 (AP)—Moscow's peace propaganda offensive has taken a bold step into a new field. But the venture does not stand up well under critical examination.

Big League Con Man Seized In $3 Swindle But Denies It

CHICAGO, Nov. 11 (AP)—Police brows were knit tonight over this baffling problem.

Would Joseph "The Yellow Kid" Well, the big league international con man, swindle the Little Sisters of the Poor out of $3?

Well is in the lockup, with charge of suspicion of doing just that.

His own version of what happened, just as baffling to police is this:

He is just a gullible dupe. Two other guys did it.

Well, a dapper, 74-year-old yellow-whiskered man who is known for swindles totaling millions, was seized last night. Police said a $3 check made out to the sisters' home for the aged had been endorsed by Well and rubber stamped with the home's name.

The trial led to Well when P. J. Vandenberg, a food company executive, was solicited by the Little Sisters of the Poor, a Catholic religious order. Vandenberg said he had contributed $3 and produced his cancelled check to prove it.

Police raided a Dearborn Street office which Well occupies and found letterheads bearing the name of the home. Then they seized Well.

Well promptly admitted cashing the check. But he said two other fellows hired him to help make the charity collections for the home, and he thought everything was on the up and up.

Moslem And Christian Arabs Hail Israel For Freedom Of Religion

BY ERIC GOTTFREU

HAIFA, Nov. 11 (AP) — Religious leaders of Moslems and Christian Arabs in Israel report they are satisfied that freedom of worship exists in the new Jewish state.

Spokesmen for the more than 100,000 Moslems and the 70,000 Christian Arabs say they have had no interference from and are satisfied with the Ministry of Religious headed by 75-year-old Rabbi Y. L. Maimon.

The Ministry pays the Moslem clerics known as imams and the Moslem religious judges called kadi. These judges head autonomous sharia courts which deal with questions of marriage, divorce, adoption and inheritance.

A government spokesman said Israel is the only non-Moslem state in the world where Moslems have independent sharia courts. He pointed out that the Moslems comprise only one-tenth of this country's population.

Typifying the attitude of the Moslem leaders was their satisfaction with a recent incident in Haifa.

A Jewish official of the Ministry of Religious ordered the arrest of three new immigrants who had moved into an empty room within a mosque compound, which is strictly forbidden. The three immigrants were tried and each sentenced to three months in prison.

"We have complete freedom of religion," says Mohamed Bastoni, chairman of the Moslem Community Council in Haifa.

He pointed out that the government spent 1,000 pounds recently to clean and repair a mosque in Haifa.

In Acre, Moslem leaders reported that the Israel government plans to open a theological school there for the study of the Koran, the holy book of Islam.

Special Aid For War-Hurt Young Debated By Italian Parliament

ROME, Nov. 11 (AP)—Italy's Parliament is discussing a proposal to provide the country's 14,000 war-mutilated children with proper assistance and education.

The bill is sponsored by Socialist Unity Deputy Giovanni Giavi, undersecretary of state for pensions.

Five thousand children need immediate help, Giavi said. As a result of their injuries, they require special re-education to take part in the active life of the country.

The towns where mutilated children are most numerous are Rimini, on the Adriatic coast, and Treviso, north of Venice. The regions of Veneto, Emilia, Marche and Campania have the highest percentage, Giavi said.

"The problem is of the utmost urgency," he said, "because the children must be educated while they are still young and eager to learn."

"Until now the care of the mutilated children has been entrusted to the National Organization of War Disabled and to private church initiatives like the Don Gnocchi and Don Orione Hospitals and colleges.

"It is now urgent to give state support to existing organizations, and create new ones to centralize the organizations now scattered in different parts of the country.

"All mutilated children who need special tuition and education will be admitted to the special institutions. The training will be compulsory in any case where parents do not provide proper education.

"Some cases were reported," Giavi said, "of poor families renting the children to beggars' organizations. This must stop. These parents will have their children taken away if they persist in shameful practices."

LILA EXILED—Blonde actress Lila Leeds is shown in Los Angeles court as she was ordered to spend the next five years outside of California. The "exile" was a condition of probation after her arrest on a reckless driving charge. The movie bit player earlier was granted probation on a marijuana charge after 60 days in jail.

Tiny Chicago Office Guides Search For Rare Chemicals

By WILLIAM J. CONWAY

CHICAGO, Nov. 11 (AP)—Look for some fructose-6-phosphate?

Or a bit of D-L-erythrose?

You may have trouble finding them. But there is a place here that can tell you where to get them and thousands of other substances with strange-sounding, cryptic names.

It is the National Registry of Rare Chemicals. It was set up by the Armour Research Foundation as a clearing house for information on the sources of uncommon chemicals.

The registry functions on a global scale. Yet it occupies a tiny office. You could squeeze the equipment into a piano crate.

The work revolved around three small steel cabinets. They contain what may well be one of the most valuable scientific card index files in the United States. The cards show you where you can obtain 13,500 materials not regularly stocked or listed by chemical supply houses.

The purpose is to put people who want something in touch with people who have it. Sometimes the requests are urgent. One such appeal came in this telegram from New York:

"Cousin desperately ill in Europe. Must locate quantity of nitro furan at once. Can you help?"

A wire giving a European source of the drug soon was on its way to the inquirer.

The need for such a ready reference service was brought home to the foundation in 1942. The foundation, which does industrial research, was doing a rush job for an insecticide manufacturer. But scientists on the job ran into a chemical road block.

They needed a compound, then obscure, known as "I, 1 dichloro 1 nitro ethane." They needed only a few grams but it took a month to find it.

That experience pointed up the need for a registry and it was established with the cooperation of some 2,500 laboratories in the industrial and educational fields.

Scientists pay nothing for the service. It is used most by research laboratories, industry, hospitals and universities.

The registry has been called a "chemical detective agency." That's because, if it doesn't know the source of a needed chemical, it will search the chemical world for it.

Each work day about 25 queries come in by letter, telephone, telegram and cable. They have come from every state in the United States and 21 foreign lands. Some inquiries call in person.

A few queries followed a boom-

Temporary Halt To Mine Workers' Strike

An accumulating sea of troubles has engulfed John L. Lewis.

In an effort to get himself off the hook, he unexpectedly and dramatically ordered his soft coal miners back to work. The belief is that his policy committee carried with them to the Monday meeting in Chicago messages of unrest and discontent among the rank and file of his organization over the prolonged and, what many miners were calling, an unnecessary strike. Too, Mr. Lewis, having failed to get a working agreement from operators, found the shadow of government intervention falling across his path.

Discontent among miners over their long idleness after working a three-day work-week before the strike was called was observed long before Phil Murray secured his agreement with Bethlehem Steel. This break among steel plant owners was followed by Lewis attempting to bring about a split among mine operators. He endeavored to find a group of accommodating mine owners whose concession could be used to force others into line. But he failed in this. The Indiana and Illinois operators refused the bait.

In addition, Senator Styles Bridges, the neutral member of the Miners' Welfare Fund board, turns out not to be in Lewis' pocket after all. The Senator has publicly declared that even emergency payments to miners must cease because the fund is dwindling rapidly and, anyway, it is probably illegal to make payments in the absence of a contract.

Just to complete the unfavorable picture, the Supreme Court on Monday upheld the fines of $1,420,000 imposed on Lewis and the United Mine Workers for ignoring a court order to end last year's strike.

John L. Lewis has been on many a tough spot in his titanic career but has always managed to leap, crawl or slide off. Up to the time he called off his strike (for the time being), he found himself in several jams, the most serious, perhaps, being the restlessness among his miners to get back to work. Opinions expressed by many in the George's Creek region attest to the fact that they had had enough. It is their hope that a working contract will be agreed to before the expiration of the November 30 deadline. But should that fail to materialize, and members of his organization are again called upon to strike, it will be with some reluctance should they leave their jobs. After all, they have homes to maintain, families to feed and clothe, and with Christmas approaching they will not relish another period of idleness.

The Defeat Of U. S. Senator John Foster Dulles

Thanks to the heavy Democratic vote in New York City and the help of the Liberal (leftist) party, Herbert H. Lehman will replace John Foster Dulles in the United States Senate. Truman Democrats and British Laborites are rejoicing. Since President Truman and a battery of lieutenants had personally backed Lehman, they will naturally read national significance into the defeat of Dulles. The event does have a national significance, but we are not at all sure it will be the kind of significance the Administration wants.

Lehman, the successful banker and former thrifty governor, went all-out for the Truman "welfare state"—in blank endorsement. But when he got down to cases, as he occasionally did during the campaign, he opposed a number of Fair Deal measures, notably socialized medicine and the Brannan Farm Plan. He kept the labor vote in line by favoring repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act. But his ideas about a substitute were far from those of the national labor leaders. Perhaps caution about his future votes in the Senate as well as about the recent campaign explains Lehman's refusal to debate any of the issues with Senator Dulles.

The defeat of Dulles may turn out to be an Administration defeat in the field of foreign affairs. The New York Senator was one of the authors and a vigorous supporter of the bi-partisan foreign policy. Many Republicans attacked him on that ground. Many will now interpret his defeat as evidence that Republicans cannot afford politically to go along with the Truman foreign aid program at a time of mounting deficits at home. With Vandenberg ill and Dulles out, the President will lose two of his strongest Republican supporters in foreign policy.

Further, in trying to judge whether results in the chief elections across the nation forecast a "Democratic year" in 1950, Mayor O'Dwyer's victory in New York is at least balanced by Republican Governor Driscoll's win in New Jersey. And in California the return to a more moderate state welfare system weighs against the Democratic gain of one Congressman.

Men of Kremlin More Dangerous Than Lenin

Lenin would have turned over in his glass coffin if he could have heard the oratory reverberating over his mausoleum in Red Square during ceremonies celebrating the thirty-second anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution.

Lenin was an exile who wished to transform Russia—as Peter the Great did before him—by importing what he considered the best of western thought. But his Soviet Union is now in the hands of men whose fear of the West is exceeded only by their ignorance of it.

G. M. Malenkov, fastest rising member of the all-powerful Politburo, unfolded before his Moscow audience a grotesque picture of the outside world. The United States, he said, now has 14,000,000 unemployed and is being shaken to its foundation by economic instability.

Countries outside the Iron Curtain are full of slavering war-mongers, architects of a new war, who differ from Hitler only in being worse. The peoples of these countries, realizing that the end of capitalism is in sight, are embracing communism in ever-increasing numbers. The Soviet Union and her friends stand alone for peace, but if they are forced to fight, they will win.

In Malenkov, in Stalin, and in the men whom Stalin permits to survive in his government, the outstanding characteristic is ignorance of the outside world. Their information about how capitalism works comes straight out of Marx. If the facts appear to contradict this, then the facts must have been manipulated by capitalist trickery.

That is what makes them far more dangerous than Lenin ever was.

Tragedy Follows French Worker

LA SEYNE, France, Nov. 11 (INS)—Tragedy continues to mar the life of one of the unhappiest men in the world—a French railway worker of La Seyne station.

The chain of misfortunes began for Baptiste Boeri during the wartime bombardments that preceded the liberation of La Seyne. Boeri lost three members of his family in the barrage. Twice he saw his home destroyed by bombs.

Just a few years later, his wife died.

After a short interval, Boeri remarried, and for a time it seemed that the grim tenor of his life had changed.

But just the other day, an "automail" was wrecked near Avignon, killing 12 persons and injuring 46. Boeri's mother, wife, and two of his three children were among the victims.

But Baptiste Boeri's malign fate still was not quite through with him. En route to Avignon to identify the bodies, he passed through Marseille. There, in the railway station, a pickpocket robbed him of his wallet, which contained all the money he possessed.

Foot Speaks On Fire Safety

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

The late John Macrae, head of the publishing firm of E. P. Dutton, had the usual run of strange encounters with temperamental authors, but Mary Webb, who wrote the memorable Precious Bane, took the cake in his opinion. In the first place, she told him that the advance he offered on that book was too high. "It's been turned down by four other publishers," she said, "so I don't see why you should pay me so much." Mr. Macrae almost fell off his chair.

She brought her next manuscript to his home, and began talking about it in his drawing room. The more she talked, the less satisfied she appeared with her work. Finally, she announced, "I'm not even going to let you read it," rose abruptly, and threw her manuscript into the fire!

The scarcity of eggs in England has necessitated severe rationing for so long that a visitor to these shores, hearing her Long Island hostess complain that eggs had soared in the local market to nine-and-a-half cents a dozen, said, "So what, my dear? What's ninety-five cents spread over three months?"

The students of 9-B general science class have also been making studies on possible fire hazards in their homes, and what they have done to prevent them. Paul Nightingale, Hugh Beeman, and Robert Jones were appointed to report on the fire department.

He concluded by saying that the children of today can help prevent fires.

Larry Parks is the only one who doesn't believe it. He doesn't think Jolson will ever be able to master the character.

Of course there is only one reason why Larry Parks won't play the "Mammy singer" any more. Jolson insists Larry's getting too old for the part.

But the audience won't have any trouble telling the difference between Larry playing Jolson and Jolson playing himself. When the real Jolson gets down on one knee, it's to plead with the income tax man.

Naturally, Al wants to lower production costs on the movie. In fact, he is going to cut out the middle man and have the picture shown right in the vault at the Bank of America.

And I know Al will enjoy seeing himself on the screen, but everybody I go to one of my own pictures. I don't see much of me. I have to spend half the time waking up the audience.

Students are asked to write a letter on the subject, "The Teacher Who Has Helped Me Most."

Two winning teachers will be selected. The "Best Teacher of the Year" will receive a cash award of $2,000. The "Most Promising Teacher" will be awarded $2,000 for graduate study.

The writers of the two best letters will receive $1,000 in U. S. Security Bonds, the next 50 best letters will win $10 each and the next 500 nuns' and honor certificates.

Keyser Women Find "Tar Heels" Are No Fun

KEYSER, W. Va.—City Street Department workmen thought they'd take advantage of an exceptionally quiet Armistice Day here yesterday to place tar on North Davis Street without interruption.

Just when the job was two-thirds completed, along came two young women pushing a baby carriage. They stopped, swung the carriage around, and started across the street.

Before the workmen could stop them, they had lifted the baby buggy from the street to avoid dirtying the wheels—and started to carry it across the newly-tarred street.

A little while later, a Keyser policeman called at their home to suggest they use kerosene to remove the tar from their hose. Workmen had helped them to twist their shoes out of the sticky mess.

Hartle May Seek Congressional Seat

HAGERSTOWN, Nov. 11 (P)—The mail said today Washington County Democratic leaders expect retired Maj. Gen. Russell P. Hartle to be a candidate next summer for Maryland's Sixth District seat in Congress.

Since his retirement he has lived here. His father once was a Washington County tax collector and the family has always been active in Democratic circles.

"Scrappy" Hartle led the first contingent of American troops sent to the British Isles early in World War II, landing on January 26, 1942. For a time he was top American commander in Europe. He was reassigned to duty in the United States before the invasion.

Commissioner Attacks Roads Work In County

A protest that the County Roads Department was neglecting the George's Creek section and the area from McClellan to Cresaptown was brought up by Commissioners William H. Lemmert and James Holmes at the last meeting of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

Lemmert told County Engineer John J. Smith that during the past year only one crew of county road workers has been working in the George's Creek section.

He said that while the weekly road program submitted to the board on Fridays was a good thing, too often the work projects were not completed.

Stating that several George's Creek jobs authorized by the county board were not done, Lemmert declared that in the future all work authorized by the board will have to be done and maintenance work not authorized is strictly out of the question.

Smith admitted that there had been only one crew in the George's Creek area, but added there will be more men available with the completion of the Cash Valley Road. He also said that flash floods in the past summer had hindered work.

Commissioner Charles N. Wilkinson did not enter the discussion, but Commissioner Holmes echoed Lemmert's statements.

Wilkinson made a motion for the construction of a road from the present hard-surfaced highway into the Ellerslie highway.

The motion was lost for a second and a motion by Lemmert to have the fire company meet with the board to arrange for obtaining rights-of-way and property lines was passed.

The deer fly was the first creature known to cross the sonic barrier, with a speed of 800 miles an hour.

Police arrested Filler after three Martinsburg businessmen reported they had cashed checks which later proved to have been forged in the name of a Martinsburg contractor.

One, they said, was for $25, and the others were for $5 each.

Local Man Held

Three forgery charges have been placed against Carl L. Filler, this city, who has been ordered held for the Berkeley County Circuit Court in Martinsburg, W. Va., by Justice of the Peace C. E. Kettering.

Filler, according to Martinsburg police, has admitted cashing three bad checks. He waived a preliminary hearing when arraigned this week, and was ordered held when he failed to post bond of $1,500.

Police arrested Filler after three Martinsburg businessmen reported they had cashed checks which later proved to have been forged in the name of a Martinsburg contractor.

One, they said, was for $25, and the others were for $5 each.

Walter S. "Mike" Milligan, head football coach of the University of Pittsburgh's Panthers, who have defeated William and Mary, Northwestern, West Virginia, Miami (Ohio) and Pennsylvania, lost to Indiana and Ohio State and play Minnesota today, will be among the honor guests at the Dapper Dan Club dinner to be held at the local Knights of Columbus Home on Sunday, November 20.

Announcement of Milligan's appearance in Cumberland comes from Al Abrams, Pittsburgh sports editor, and head of the national Dapper Dan organization.

Wonder how many coaches in the tri-state area are eligible for membership in the Century Club?

The honorary organization is open to all college and high school coaches whose athletic teams have won 100 or more contests in any sport.

Matty Bell, football mentor at S.M.U. and 20 U.S. high school and prep school coaches have been named award winners in the newly formed club.

William Matthel, coach at Bayview High School, Milwaukee, received the first award—a framed certificate. He qualified by coaching cross-country teams that have won six titles.

Tichnell and Tim Clark played best for Barton while F. Davis and Buser, fullback, were outstanding and two ties.

Bruce and Beall battled to a scoreless tie for three periods before each team registered a field goal in the final stanza. It was the third tie game played by Coach Woodie Woodson's booters this season.

Beall had an opportunity to kick a penalty goal early in the fourth quarter but Goalie Warnick blocked the shot. Then Ken Witt scored a field goal for Coach Finzel's aggregation.

Bruce's try for penalty goal was stopped by Goalie Arnone but Billy Howe came through with a field goal to knot the count at one-all.

Beall was on the defensive a greater part of the game and had the crossbar been a little higher Bruce would have scored more points. Six of the Westerport team's shots bounded off the bar during the contest. The lineups:

Krampf returned the opening kickoff in the second half 95 yards for a score and galloped 60 yards to the 10 on an end around play prior to going over for his second score. Rowe set up the first score of the game.

Rowe, who played with Keegan on the old Broadway A. C. basketball team a quarter of a century ago, was elected burgess of the Pennsylvania town by 399 votes.

"He ran a grand race," Keegan said.

The commissioner would put it that way because he's a race horse owner.

When Herman Ball was named acting coach of the Washington Redskins one writer said:

"He likes murder mysteries, western music—and football."

Joe Brehan and Lloyd "Little Poison" Waner have been released as scouts for the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Brehan, a native of Nipke, this county, played for Martinsburg in the old Blue Ridge League

Gateway to Life . . . . .

A young mother said with an enthusiastic ring in her voice, "There is one thing I am determined to do. I am going to see that Nancy knows and loves the Bible." This mother knows that the Bible is the gateway to life.

There are other books that assist in developing a useful and happy life, but there is only one book which is important from the cradle to the grave. There are many books which can improve mind and character, but there is a limit to their effectiveness.

The Bible gives help and guidance in every phase of human experience. That is why it is the world's most popular book. It has been issued in 188 languages and part of it in 1108 tongues and dialects.

No other book has ever been so thoroughly read as the Bible. It lives because people get the most out of life as they study and treasure its eternal truths.

KEEPING UP WITH HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 11 (INS)—Now that J. Arthur Rank admits losing nine million dollars, I don't believe I will get another bitter denial that Jean Simmons is being lent out. Well she is—to William Goetz, for Jimmy Stewart's picture, "Winchester '72." The Goetz company, Universal-International, was formerly in business with Rank, and the deal is practically set.

When I read of Rank's financial Jean Simmons' plight I was reminded of the lunction I had with him about a year ago, when he said with great satisfaction after the American tax quota was passed, "I have told our theater owners they needn't worry. I can make 50 pictures a year."

He then went on to relate that he was willing to wager a fancy figure that the British theaters wouldn't be affected. Wonder if Mr. Rank ever made that wager?

Lauren Bacall, on the Warner lot for wardrobe fittings, gave me the truth when she said she hadn't heard a word about playing "Sonja" in "The Bright Leaf" until I told her. Later, the official word was received and she admitted she is pleased.

Also at Warners for this Gary Cooper epic is Donald Crisp, who plays Major Singleton. Donald was at Warners for years, and this is a reunion for him. No wonder Gary is so pleased with the cast chosen—baby, Pat Neal, Jack Carson and now Crisp.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

The Ben Selvins have dated the stork. Papa is the head of Columbia records on the coast.

Garbo's repeated visits to the Paris Theater in New York is to see Gerard Phillippe, who plays the lead in "Devil in the Flesh" film. She's been there four times within two weeks.

The Rosemary Judge with whom Elliott Roosevelt is seen everywhere in New York is the same Posey Judge we first revealed as his girl friend.

Buddy Clark's widow will realize several thousand dollars from the sale of Xavier Cugat's latest disc "Thrill Me," which Buddy sings. Cugat is turning over all the royalties to Mrs. Clark.

Katherine Dunham, the sepia dancer, has adopted a one-year-old baby and gave a job to the baby's mother, a wardrobe.

Trigger, Roy Rogers' famous horse, will soon have a Doberman Pinscher for a companion in his future pictures.

Sophie Tucker said she had butterflies in her stomach when she looked down from the stage and saw Louis B. Mayer and his lovely bride at one table, and Harry Cohn and his attractive Joan at another. Sophie's second week at Ciro's is just as jam-packed as it was the first night.

On to the Mocambo where we talked with Vic Damone, who is so attractive and such a nice boy. He, too, is getting plenty of customers.

What happened to Frances Gifford and Dr. Guerden? She and Curtis Bernhardt were a dinner twosome at the Cove.

If it is true Mary Pickford owns most of Pedro Armendariz' contract, she has herself a good deal. He is in demand.

Mona Barr is heading the James Fitzpatrick travel agency's advice to "see the world before you leave it." She is going on an extended trip to Europe.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

The Russian oak in the White House grounds grew from an acorn of an oak in the grounds of the palace of the late czar of Russia in St. Petersburg (Leningrad), which in turn grew from an acorn of an oak which stood at Washington's original tomb at Mt. Vernon.

Charles Harvey, Frostburg, and Floyd Buser, Oldtown, were re-elected president and vice president respectively of the Allegany County Farm Bureau at the annual meeting Thursday.

Main speaker on the program was C. C. Wise, Baltimore, secretary of the Maryland State Farm Bureau, who attacked the Brannan Farm Plan as requiring too intricate an administration system.

Both the county and state Farm Bureaus have gone on record as opposing the plan.

Wilbert Smith, Frederick County, field representative of the Maryland State Farm Bureau, spoke on the activities of the organization.

Newly elected directors are Dale Mann, Little Orleans; Roy Shryock, Oldtown; Paul Browning, Flintstone; James Twigg, North Branch; Albert O'Neal, Union Grove; Marshall R. Porter, Eckhart; Arch Davis, Frostburg; Ivan Wilson, Midland, and C. R. Armstrong, Rawlings.

The board will select a secretary and treasurer for the county group.

"The Authority on Authorities"

LEARN FROM HIS ACTS

THROUGHOUT the defense of a contract, the fine player keeps asking himself questions containing the little word "why." For instance, why did the declarer play as he did on a particular trick? Why didn't he do thus and so instead? Why did my partner play as he did? Why didn't he do a certain other thing? The answers to these and similar queries can frequently furnish the only sound guide to the way that the contract may be beaten.

reading action earlier. You can justify such bidding only by the fact that the players knew one another's peculiarities.

Reading the situation as highly distributional, North did not open his partner's spade suit, but the 4 of the unbid diamonds. West put on the dummy's A, and decided to ruff out his spade losers.

He led the heart 4 to the J, ruffed the spade 6 with the heart 6, then decided to try a club for a re-entry, leading the 4. He got a shock when North discarded after South won with the A and then led the club 2 for North to ruff with the heart 7.

Right there is where North slipped. He laid down the diamond K for his side's third trick. But that was the end of the defensive efforts, as the rest was a cinch for West.

Why didn't North reason that, if West had the diamond Q, he might have let the opening lead run to it instead of playing dummy's A? If North had asked why West did that, he could have answered that it was because South had the diamond Q. North then should have led a low diamond, instead of laying down his K. South would have won and would have given him another club ruff to set the contract.

Your Weekend Question

Under what circumstances should a good defensive player trump his partner's ace?

Firm Awarded $567 In Suit

A Circuit Court jury awarded the Queen City Neon Company and the State Farm Insurance Corporation $567 Thursday afternoon.

A cross-suit filed by Clifford Crowe, trading as the Crowe Pontiac Company, Frostburg, for use of the Continental Insurance Company, also was decided in favor of the Cumberland firm.

The suits resulted from a two-truck collision on Route 40 at Frog Hollow Road just west of the Garrett County Line last January 15.

Testimony revealed that a one-ton truck owned by the Crowe firm was traveling west on Route 40 when a one-ton truck owned by the local firm attempted to pass as the first truck turned left on to the Frog Hollow Road.

The Crowe firm entered suit for $915 for damages to the truck, but testimony indicated the Crowe driver failed to give a hand signal for the turn.

William H. Geppert represented the local company and W. Earle Cobey and D. Lindley Sloan represented the Frostburg companies. Associate Judge Oliver H. Bruce, Jr., presided.

Attorneys for the complainants, Ronald C. McIntire and others, were Walter C. Capper and Edward J. Ryan, local members of the bar. Neil C. Praley, W. W. Dawson and W. R. Offutt were attorneys for the Garrett County Commissioners.

SECRETS OF CHARM

by JOHN ROBERT POWERS

I have often wondered what would have happened to Little Red Riding Hood, if when she said, "What big eyes you have, Grandma!" the wolf had answered, "Yours aren't so bad, either, my dear." I'm sure her eyes must have been somewhat larger than flying saucers at the time.

Certainly many another woman's life has been altered by the look in her eyes. In the realm of enchantment, what the eyes say is often more potent than any spoken words. It's no wonder most women would like to turn theirs in for a slightly larger, more luminous and lucid model.

Big As You Please!

However, it's so easy to intensify the natural beauty of your eyes that there is no real reason for not being satisfied with your own. You can give your eyes the illusion of increased size by following the same techniques used regularly by the Powers Girls in preparing to pose before the camera. They're so expert that not even the camera's accurate eye can detect their stratagem.

Finishing Touches

Now forget about your eyes until the rest of your cosmetic grooming is complete. Then apply your eyeshadow to your lower lid from a line above the center of your pupil to the outer tip of your brow and blend it outward and upward. Add to the shadow a soft penciled line drawn along the very edge of the lid from the center to a quarter of an inch past the outer end. Blur, smooth and blend this line with your finger tips until it is as imaginary as the boundary line of your home state. If you do it right, it will make your eyes look larger, more alluring.

Lastly, give an upward whisk of mascara to your lashes and a quick stroke of a brush to your brows. Now take a good look at what big eyes you have!

sad but loving memory of our dear father and husband, John McElroy, died Nov. 11, 1948, at the age of 72. Dear Father you are not forgotten, though on earth you are no more, still in memories you are with us, As you always were before.

Sadly missed by his wife, Family

In loving memory of our wife and mother, Irene G. King, who died one year ago today, Nov. 12, 1948.

You have not left our house; it is as though

You passed from room to room. That was you, you left.

Was far too small, and as your spirit grew

Just through the door you passed, but not away!

Into another room—that's all—just through the door;

Into a larger, lighter room—forevermore.

Sadly missed by his husband, Wilbur O. King, Sr. and Children.

In loving memory of Claude DuVal

Grove, who died two years ago today, Nov. 12, 1947.

I cannot say, and I will not say!

That he is dead—he is just away!

With a cheery smile, and a wave of the hand,

He had wandered into an unknown land,

and left as dreaming how very fair

It needs must be, since he lingers there.

So think of him faring on, as dear

In the love of those at the love of here;

Think of him faring on, as dear

He is not dead—he is just away!

Two Dead, Four Injured As Car Hits Tree In W. Va.

Mrs. G. A. Hall, And John Webb, Jr.,
Both Of Washington, Die At Hospital

Two persons died last night and four others were admitted to Memorial Hospital here after the car in which they were driving to a funeral crashed against a tree near Erwin, W. Va.

Dead are Mrs. Claudia C. Hall, 60, driver of the car, of 1430 S Street, S. E., Washington, and John Webb, Jr., six son of Mrs. Gertrude Webb, Richmond, Va.

Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy county medical examiner, said both died of intracranial hemorrhages due to skull fractures.

Injured were listed as:

Mrs. Hall's husband, George A. Hall, 65, who was reported in serious condition with head injuries and a fractured right arm.

Edith Anne Webb, 13, John Webb's sister, who sustained leg injuries.

G. Roy Yelvington, 60, whose right leg was fractured.

Yelvington's wife, Mrs. Ada L. Yelvington, 60, sustained a fracture of the right arm, possible fracture of the right leg, and head injuries.

All resided at the Washington address.

Dead On Arrival

Mrs. Hall was pronounced dead on arrival at the local hospital, and the Webb boy died shortly after admission, at about 9 p. m.

Authorities said the accident occurred at 3:10 p. m. yesterday on Route 50 at the foot of Cheat Mountain when the brakes of the car gave way and the vehicle failed to negotiate a curve, sheared off a tree and struck another before stopping.

Dr. Deming said the accident occurred near Eggon, about 25 miles east of Grafton.

He said the time was determined from a watch which stopped at the moment of the terrific impact.

Deming added he was informed that the brakes of the car burned out as the 1947 model sedan was descending Cheat Mountain on Route 50.

Brakes Useless

When the driver attempted to use the brakes at the bottom of the hill, she found them useless as the vehicle went out of control and plunged off the road, authorities said.

Hospital attaches said the dead and injured were brought to the local hospital in three ambulances. Memorial Hospital, they explained, was the closest large hospital to the scene of the accident.

The accident victims were traveling from Washington to attend the funeral of D. E. Hendrickson, who died recently at Louisville, Ky.

Bodies of both the dead are at the Hafer Funeral Home here.

LaVale Group Planning For Health Center

Plans are being made to build a new health center in LaVale.

This was announced last night by Mrs. A. E. Christner, chairman of the LaVale lay health group, member of the Allegany County Public Health Lay Council.

Mrs. Christner said 1,000 street maps of LaVale have been printed as the first step in a fund-raising project for the health center.

The maps are ready for sale and will be available soon at the LaVale School and business places in that section.

Lester Bolinger, of the Engineering Department at City Hall, was commissioned by the group to prepare the map a number of months ago.

Four blueprints were loaned from the Court House by Claude Woodward, assistant supervisor of county assessors.

Bolinger compiled the map from the blueprints. It lists the names of streets as they are registered at the Court House.

Mrs. Christner said LaVale residents have long felt the need for such a map.

She explained that popular usage has changed the names of some LaVale streets from their correct names as listed in deeds, and that confusion resulted in business transactions.

The map also shows business places and through roads, as well as streets.

Copies will be sent to the Court House and City Hall, Mrs. Christner said.

Members of the LaVale Volunteer Fire Company have granted use of the Fire Hall to the lay health group since August, 1948, for monthly child hygiene clinics.

When the new health center is constructed, clinics and other activities sponsored by the LaVale group will be held there.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Christner said the group will elect officers at its regular meeting Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 at the Fire Hall. The child hygiene clinic will be held the same day from 10 a. m. until noon.

The public is invited to attend the business meeting Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Irving Millenson, county chairman, is scheduled to address the group at a special meeting Friday, November 25.

Employment Increases In Cumberland

5.4 Per Cent Jump Noted By Labor Department

Employment in the Cumberland area has increased by 5.4 per cent in the last two months, the U. S. Department of Labor reported yesterday.

Cumberland, according to a Labor Department report, was among 26 other American cities reporting substantial employment increases.

Increases have been noted in Cumberland since the Celanese plant, the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, and the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, three of the city's largest industries, began recalling furloughed workers in July and August, before the coal and steel strikes.

Unemployment figures, which were as high as 8,000 in July, dropped to about 4,000 after recalls began in most major industries and many unemployed workers exhausted their unemployment compensation benefits.

In its report, the Department of Commerce noted three encouraging factors:

1. A decline from 35 to 33 in the number of areas with very substantial labor surpluses—known as "E" areas.

2. Unemployment declines in 30 of the 35 areas classed as "E" areas early in September, and

3. Employment increases in 26 of the areas.

In a report to Secretary of Labor Maurice J. Tobin, Labor Bureau Director Robert C. Goodwin said that, as a result of a survey in October, five areas classed as "E" in September have been removed from that category and three new areas added.

Areas removed from the list of those with heavy unemployment included Jackson, Port Huron and the Upper Peninsula copper areas in Michigan; Burlington, Vt., and Manchester, N. H.

Altoona and Johnstown, Pa., and Honolulu and Hawaii, however, were added to the "E" list.

A labor area is placed on the "E" list by the department when 12 per cent or more of its total available labor force is unemployed. Under White House designation "E" areas receive preference in awarding of government procurement contracts and in other federal programs.

Largest employment increase noted by the department was 14.3 per cent in Burlington, Vt.

Other areas with substantial labor increases include Lawrence, Mass., 7.9 per cent; Danielson, Conn., 7.1; Bristol, Conn., 6.2; Meriden, Conn., 5.8; Cairo, Ill., 4.8; Terre Haute, Ind., 4.6; Utica-Rome, N. Y., 3.7; Pottsville, Mass., 5.3, and Ansonia, Conn., 3.5.

Goodwin said unemployment resulting directly or indirectly from the coal and steel strikes was not considered in determining the categories.

"While the improvements in labor market conditions were widespread," Goodwin said, "the unemployment declines were sufficient in only five instances to warrant a classification change to a higher category."

Frostburg Resident Assumes Mental Hygiene Clinic Post

Mrs. William C. Van Newkirk has been appointed clinical psychologist at the Allegany County mental hygiene clinic, Dr. Winter R. Frantz, and county health officer, announced yesterday.

Mrs. Van Newkirk resides at 191 Welsh Hill, Frostburg. Her husband is head of the psychology department at Frostburg State Teachers College.

Dr. Frantz said Mrs. Van Newkirk's appointment has been approved by the State Department of Health.

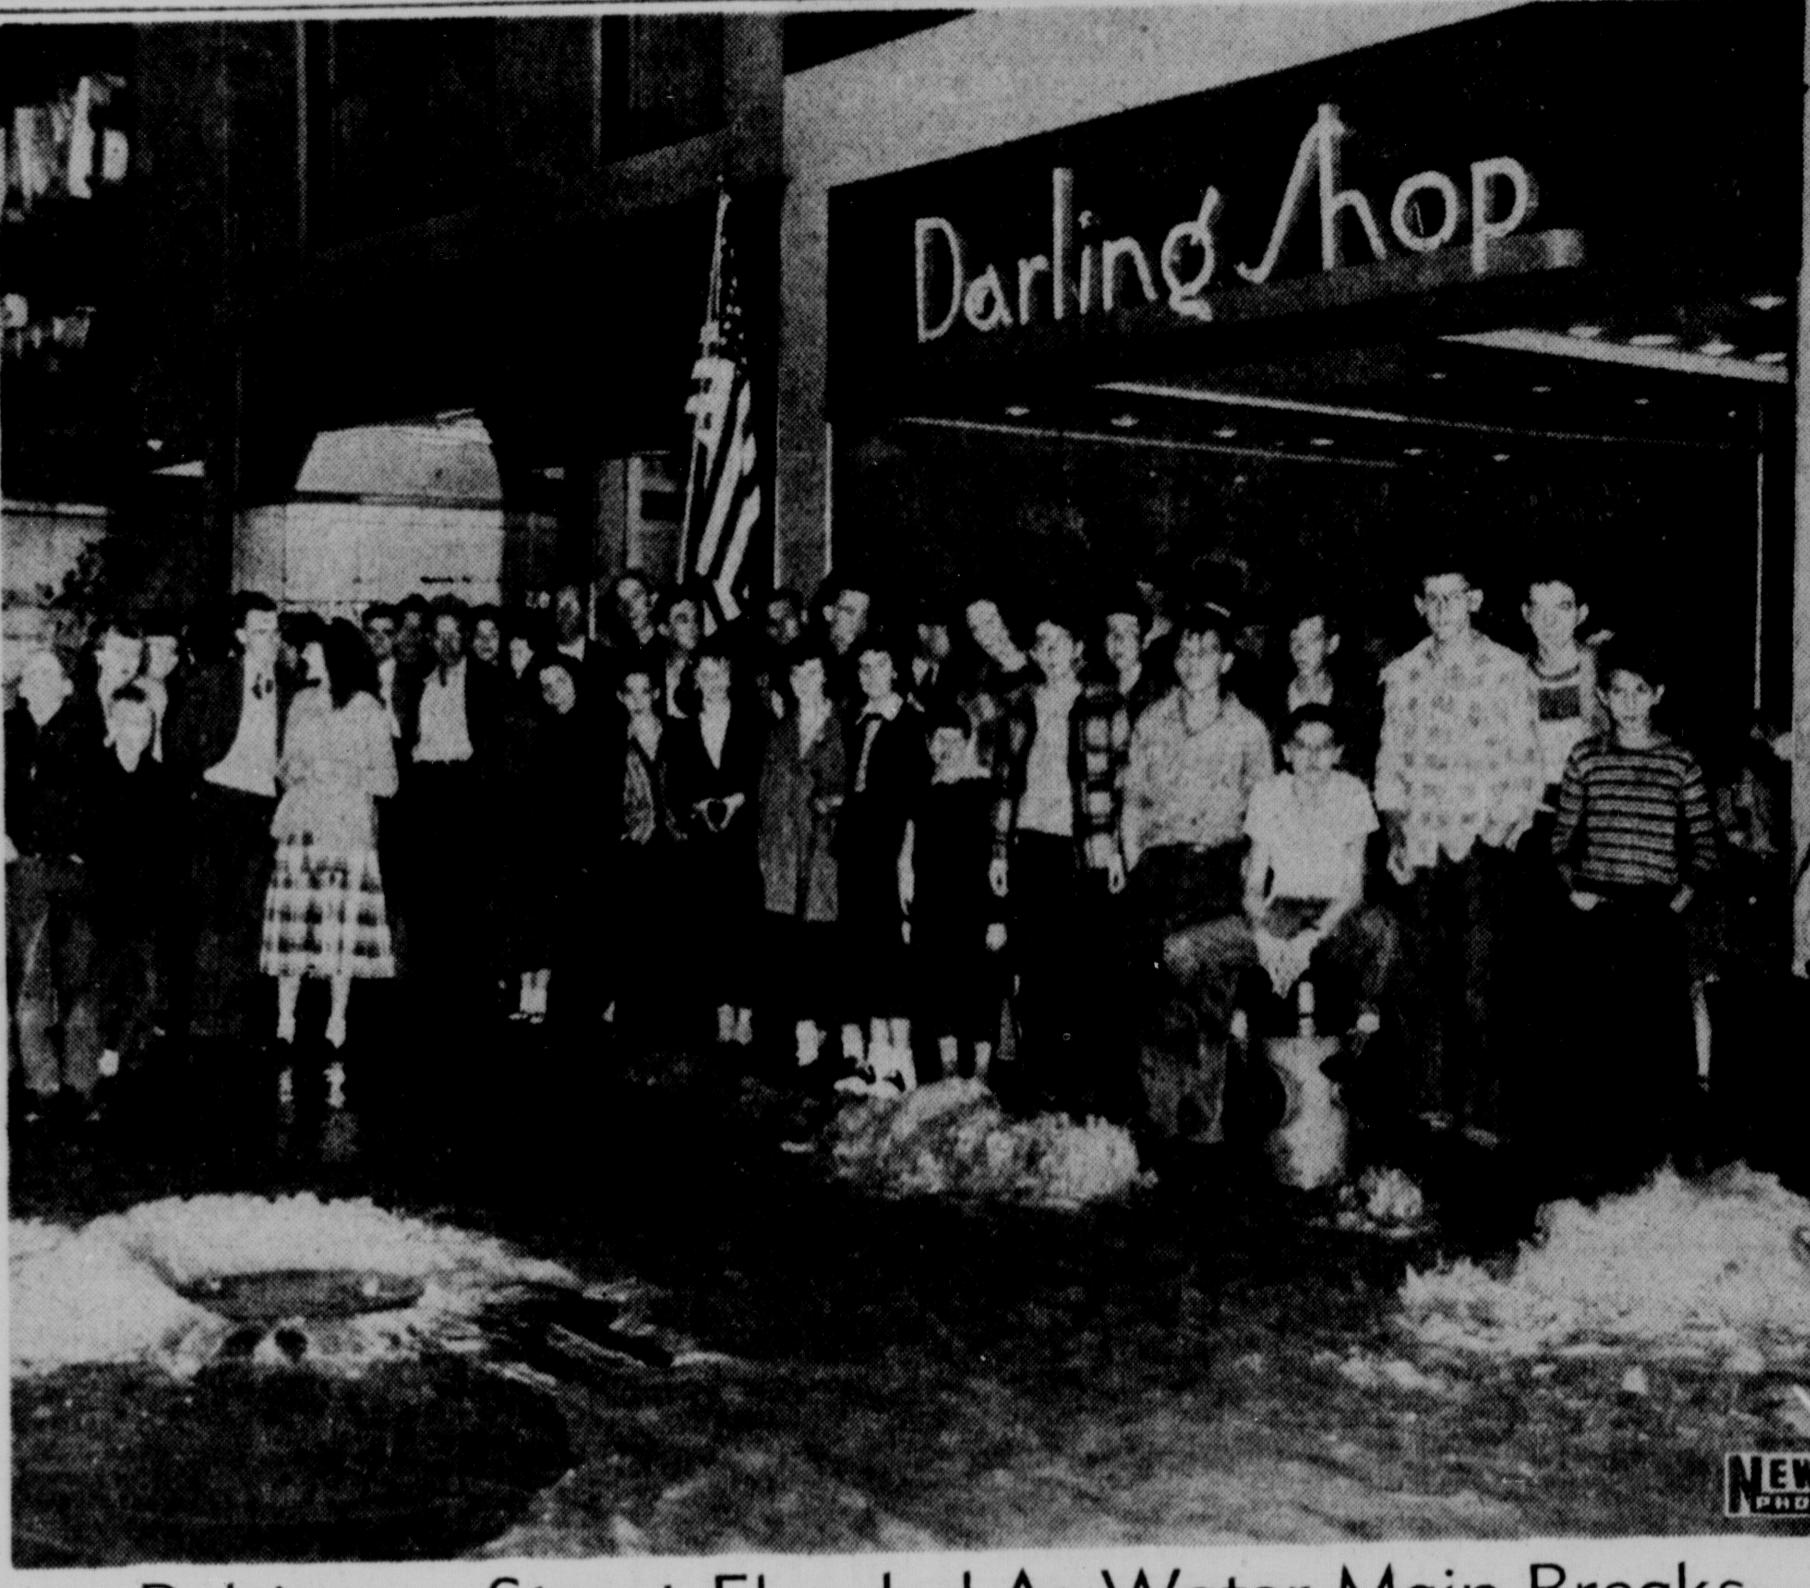

She began her duties at the two-day clinic held last week.

Clinics are held once a month at City Hall under the supervision of Dr. Gertrude Gross. Miss Ella Darling is resident psychiatric social worker.

Mrs. Van Newkirk succeeds Marshall Bruce, who has accepted a position with Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore as clinical psychologist.

Marshall received a Bachelor of arts degree in 1936 from Bryn Mawr College, and M. A. degree in psychology from the University of Pennsylvania in 1941.

In 1947 she was employed as part-time research assistant in industrial psychology by the Pennsylvania

Baltimore Street Flooded As Water Main Breaks

The picture above was taken on Baltimore Street last night shortly after a city water main burst during the Armistice Day parade. The torrent of water was heralded by the 40 and 8 Society's "light artillery" cannon, which preceded the parade. The report of the cannon and the breaking of the water main appeared to occur simultaneously. Note the "floating" manhole cover.

Rev. Watson Is Honored At Dinner

Delegates from 11 Democratic Clubs which comprise the Young Democratic Clubs of Maryland assembled here yesterday for their first convention since before World War II, and elected Richard E. Lankford of Anne Arundel County as permanent convention chairman.

The name of David Kauffman, local attorney and a delegate from Allegany County, was placed in nomination for the chairmanship, but Kauffman withdrew in favor of Lankford, president of his county club and a member of the House of Delegates.

As the convention got underway, following an invocation by Rev. David C. Watson, rector of Emmanuel Episcopal Church, was honored at a testimonial dinner last night at All Ghani Shrine Country Club by a group of men representing service clubs, the church and other local organizations.

Rev. Watson has accepted a call to the Church of Messiah in Baltimore. He will become rector there December 1.

A gift of an ivory-colored hand-made vestment stole was presented to Rev. Watson on behalf of the group by Edwin F. Hinke.

Twenty-four persons attended.

Turkey Prices Expected To Drop This Year

Thrifty Cumberland housewives who are making plans for Thanksgiving will get some good news in store for them.

A survey of local food dealers yesterday revealed that turkey prices will be lower this year.

It's still too early to predict for certain, but dealers said prices should be at least several cents less per pound.

They explained that 1949 was a bumper crop for turkeys in all parts of the nation, making a plentiful supply.

On the other hand, widespread unemployment is expected to decrease the demand, which will probably lead to reduced prices, dealers said.

20 Per Cent Higher

One dealer explained that turkeys brought high prices last year, causing many new growers to enter the business. Production this year is about 20 per cent higher, as is the case.

The Democrats are to be congratulated for the victories at the polls this week, which clearly demonstrate in my mind that the Fair Deal program is a popular program and gives the people the kind of government they want with equal rights and a chance for everybody that is Democracy.

"So I congratulate you as Democrats and hope you will, during our convention here, make such plans and take such action as will further the progress of our great nation."

Two Million Pesos

The Octocan plant brings to this shabby old town at least two million pesos (about $220,000) a year in salaries and wages paid to the 600 employees. More important, it has brought sanitation and better health. All employees must be inoculated against small pox and typhoid and their families are glad to be treated free.

Bursting Water Main Upsets Quiet Armistice Day Parade

Shot From 40 & 8 Cannon Herald Water Line Break Flooding Baltimore Street And Store

Not heard around the world exactly, but causing the disruption of a perfectly good parade, was the shot from the 40 and 8 Society's baby cannon which came simultaneously with a break in the city's eight-inch Baltimore Street water line.

Last night's five-division Armistice Day parade was going along smoothly until the 40 and 8 "Bucket Brigade," collecting funds for the Allegany County Rheumatic Fever and Heart Association, passed a fire hydrant in front of the Family Finance Corporation, 121 Baltimore Street.

As if timed purposely, thousands of gallons of water erupted from the pavement as the Society fired its last shot for the night. For 20 minutes streets were flooded curb-high as far as the Embassy Theatre and water was in the basement of the Kinney Shoe Store, 119 Baltimore Street, as high as the first floor.

No Damage Estimate

Water Department officials said last night that they had no reports of water in other establishments, but added that they could not estimate full damage last night.

S. K. Carroll, city plumber, said the reason for the line break could not be determined until workers had pumped excess water from under Baltimore Street. The amount of water lost also could not be estimated.

In a unanimous decision, the Court of Appeals declared the law invalid because of a clause exempting Garrett County. Maryland's only other coal producing county is Allegany.

"The exemption of Garrett County from the provisions of the act renders the act void," the court said.

Other sections were declared constitutional. This left open the possibility of an attempt to pass a new version at the 1950 Legislature.

The decision reversed an Allegany County Circuit Court opinion and ordered the county court to issue an injunction preventing the State Mines Bureau from enforcing the law.
